Management Discussion and Analysis Report
(Annexure 3 to the Directors' Report)

Industry Scenario & Development

Sugar is one of the world's major agro-based industries and more than 80% of sugar is produced from sugar cane. The balance 20% production comes from sugar beet. Brazil and India are the largest sugar producers from sugarcane and EU and US are the major sugar producers from beet. Sugar is one of the most important commodities produced and consumed around the world. Sugar is produced in over 123 countries worldwide but over 70% of the world sugar production is consumed domestically and the remaining is traded.

The global sugar production continued to surpass consumption for the fourth consecutive year in the season 2013-14. Global sugar production indicates marginally higher sugar production of 180.2 MMT as compared to 179.5 MMT in 2013. The global consumption is expected to remain at 175.4 MMT in SS14. Global sugar consumption continue to grow at an average annual rate of 1.8% over the past 28 years despite the continuing economic difficulties in many developed countries compounded by the period of high sugar prices and increased volatility. Sugar consumption has been declining in developed countries partly due to the availability of substitutes and concerns about obesity and health. On the contrary, it has been increasing in developing countries which now account for around 70% of the world sugar consumption driven primarily by higher population growth and changes in diet. In 2013, the world per capita consumption of sugar was around 24kgs driven primarily by higher population and income growth in developing countries. The world sugar market continues to experience considerable price volatility which is largely the result of changes in production especially by large players such as Brazil and India but is also due to the nature of the industry.

India is the second largest producer of sugar in the world next to Brazil and also the largest consumer of sugar. Production of sugar, inter-alia, depends on recovery rate of mills and the recovery rate mainly depends on sucrose content in the sugar cane, conditions of plant and machinery, cane supply arrangement and agro-climatic conditions. Indian sugar production is characterized by a cyclic production pattern with typical sugar cycles lasting 2-3 years, as production adjusts to fall in price which in turn leads to lower supplies, price increase and higher production. The growing Indian economy and a growing population would support growth in sugar consumption. Bulk consumers such as soft drink manufacturers, bakeries, confectionery, hotels and restaurants account for 60% of milled sugar demand. Key developments in the sector impact global demand supply dynamics and prices.

Sugar Price and Sugar Cane Price

During the year under review, the domestic free sugar realizations which had shown an upward trend in the beginning, declined by December 2013. This decline has been driven by a multiplicity of factors. Post supply pressure from new production until March 2013, the announcement of the decontrol in April 2013 continued to put pressure on sugar prices as this resulted in the large scale release of sugar by some sugar mills with large cane dues. In addition, competition from sugar produced by processing raw sugar also continued to prevent any rally in sugar prices. During the festive season October 2013- November 2013 when traditionally prices tend to spike because of demand surge, sufficient stocks against the demand continue to hold the prices on lower side. In March 2014, sugar prices across the country have been on the rise, increasing by around Rs.700 per quintal over the previous month. The two government measures of providing soft loans as well as export subsidy have helped bring up prices and it is expected that the current market prices may continue till the onset of the monsoon.

Government Measures

The Central Government based on the recommendation of the committee headed by the then Dr.C.Rangarajan, Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to Hon'ble Prime Minister decided to partially decontrol sugar sector in April 2013, whereby the government removed the levy obligation from the sugar season 2012-13 and dispensed with the regulated release mechanism immediately. With the intention of ensuing stability in the sugar sector, the Rangarajan Committee recommended abolishing SAP and sharing 70% of the revenue from the sale of sugar and its major by-products with sugarcane growers. However, recommendation of the Rangarajan committee is yet to be implemented by the State Governments. The sugar mills are always expected to pay the farmers the cane price based on the State Governments decided MSP known as SAP (State Advised Prices), wherever applicable and Central Government decided Fair and Remunerative Price (FRP) is for States where the State Government does not declare its own prices. Given that a large proportion of rural farmers in the key cane growing states are dependent on the sugarcane sector, the SAP is largely politicized and the State Governments should stop the political announcement of SAP. Increasing SAPs is also creating crop imbalances. Moreover, if the area under sugar cane cultivation keeps increasing every year, it will shrink the cultivation area of other important crops. A lopsided foodgrain production would create huge imbalances in the foodgrain basket of the country resulting in nutrient imbalances in the soil, ground water imbalances, etc. and eventually will render the soil unsuitable for sugarcane. A high SAP is also unfair to the sugar mills as they have to bear a higher financial obligation towards the cost of cane being the cost of production. The fixing of cane prices for SY14 witnessed a considerable tussle amongst the State Government, cane farmers and the millers which substantially delayed crushing in most of the States. The cane prices have to be necessarily linked to total yield and recovery percentage of sugar rather than just the weight or quantity of the sugar cane and the Rangarajan Committee's recommendation has to be implemented in true spirit.

Risks and Concerns:

Your company continues to review and manage the risks emanating from such a dynamic environment. The management of the company reviews and monitors risks at periodic intervals. The major risks faced by the industry include sugarcane availability, price realization and Regulatory control by Government, financial liquidity, amongst others.

Sugarcane availability:

Sugarcane being the main raw material, factors like adverse climatic conditions, scarcity of harvest labour, lower sugarcane realizations or cane payment arrears to growers, availability of attractive competitive/alternate crops will have a direct impact on cane availability and affect our business.

Risk mitigation: (Excepting Ambasamudram Sugar Mill Unit)

The company has mitigated this risk by adopting the following measures:

- Continuous yield monitoring and improvement activities to obtain a better quality cane leading to a better recovery which includes subsidies on good quality seeds, fertilizers and manure, among others.
- Promoting drip irrigation.
- Careful monitoring of cane planting and harvesting schedule.
- Introduction of mechanical harvesters.
- Timely cane payment to farmers and maintaining good relationship with them.

Sugar price realization risk:

Being cyclical in nature, sugar price remains volatile and realizations get adversely affected during a downturn. Coupled with this, higher cane price affects profitability.

Risk mitigation:

The company has plans to restructure the Ambasamudram sugar mill so as to strategically implement and fulfill the objectives of sugar business.

Regulatory risk:

The sugar industry is closely regulated by both central and state governments by way of reservation of cane area, fixing sugarcane price, etc.

Risk response:

The company in close association with ISMA and SISMA is in the process of developing a common platform to set appropriate policies and have minimum governmental influence in the sugar sector and facilitate decontrol of the sugar.

Financial liquidity risk:

Procurement of funds to meet working capital requirements and the payment of the interest and principal, with respect to loans availed is a challenge to the company.

Risk response:

The Company constantly strives to work on different financing options at economical and better cost of finance, besides banking finances.

Segment wise performance

The segments are Sugar, IAP and Power. The sugar segment achieved a sales turnover of ₹.8372.07 Lacs while the IAP ₹.1973.02 Lacs and Power ₹.17775.47 Lacs.

The sugar division incurred a loss of ₹.554.78 Lacs before interest and taxes, IAP division earned a profit of ₹.375.54 Lacs before interest and taxes and Power division incurred a loss of ₹.691.52 Lacs before interest and taxes. During the year under review, the Sugar unit at Ambasamudram did not function due to non-availability of sugar cane which has impacted the company adversely.

Internal control systems and their adequacy:

The company has a well-established internal control system in the form of well-documented policies, authorization guidelines commensurate with the level of responsibility and standard operating procedures, to ensure proper functioning of operations. Moreover, the company appointed an independent internal auditors to periodically review and make continuous assessments of the adequacy and effectiveness of the internal control and systems.

The Board, Audit Committee and the Management review the findings and recommendations of the Internal Auditors and take corrective action, wherever necessary.

Financial performance and operational performance:

The details of financial performance and operational performance are mentioned in the Directors' Report.
